A newsletter for the Maine Medical Center family

MMC Teaching Academy Graduates First Scholar's Cohort

The Maine Medical Center Teaching Academy (META) Scholar program graduated its inaugural Scholar's Cohort on June 19. The next cohort will begin in October. The aim of the META scholar program is to support faculty for teaching and development activities.

Twelve physicians from across MMC clinical departments and Maine Track teaching sites were selected through a competitive application pool as Teaching Scholars. An appointment as a META Scholar is two years in length. Scholars attend monthly faculty development sessions, are actively involved in teaching Maine Track medical students, and complete a scholarly project.

The META program is Co-Directed by Bob Bing-You, M.D., Division Director Endocrinology, Associate Vice President Medical Education, and Whitney Blondeau, PhD, MBA, Assistant Professor, Maine Medical Center, Tufts University School of Medicine.
